OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE

The Hancock and English battalion of this place will be well represented at Mount Joy, at the parade to-morrow night. The Hancock Invincibles and the helmet company will turn out strong and the balance of the battalion in lesser numbers will also be on hand. The Citizens' band right away, in order to carry off its injurious of this place has been engaged by the Republicans for that evening; but the Dem-cratic battalion will get music somehow. The Shawnee rolling mill shut down on Saturday until a new supply of coal could be laid in, all the old supply having been exhausted. The Susquehanna rolling mill company loaned a sufficient quantity to warrant the resumption of operations, and the mill started up again this morning. The mill, since starting up three weeks ago, has rolled a large amount

Cases Hismissed

The cases of drunken and disorderly conduct charged by Nick Goodman against G. W. Pontz, A. J. Keller, John Sherlock, Joseph Weber, John Weber and Frank Dommel were all dismissed last evening by Alderman Barr by whom they were to have been Leard, Mr. Goodman, the proscentor having failed to appear. It will be remembered the case grew out of a disturbance on "the bill" on the occasion of the Republican parade, the defendants being charged by Goodman with interremembered the case grew out of a distering with it. A hearing of the cases w. s postponed from time to time, because of Goodman's alleged illness, though it is known that on one occasion set for the hearing he was able to take his company of campaigners to the country and endure the fatigue of a long march. The defendants courted an investigation of the charge trumped up against them, but Nick was afraid to bring them to trial, knowing that he was largely responsible for the trouble by his own misconduct.

Uriah Wallace and Samuel Mays, who were charged as long ago as August last, with the larceny of chickens, the property of Kinzer Bender, but where not arrested until a few days ago, had a hearing before time. I guess you'll take my medicine here-Alderman McConomy this forenoon, and were discharged, there being no evidence to sustain the charges against them.

THAT FLORIDA FRAUD.

HOW CHAIRMAN BARNUM SCALPS CHAIRMAN JEWELL.

And Wants to Khow Why he Should Sus-pect that Democratic Repeaters were Being Sent into the Solid South. HEADQUARTERS NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE, 188 FIFTH AVENUE. NEW YORK, Oct. 23, 1880.

To the Editor of the Evening Post. SIR: My time is so occupied with measures to defeat the desperate attempts of the Republican managers to control the presidential election by bribery and fraud that I may justly complain that I am com-pelled to turn aside for the moment to notice the shameless assault upon me in the Evening Post of Saturday last. Its editor knows very well that nothing has been done in relation to the telegram of Mr. Jewell, the chairman of the Republican national committee, to the collector of Key West, announcing his shipment of men to that place, to justify a comparison of the matter to the rummaging of an overcoat accidentally left hanging in a

That telegram, as the libeler was fully aware, was accidentally included in a bundle of telegrams received by a subordinate of mine, in the regular course of business, for the express purpose of examination. Therefore, he properly learned the contents of the telegram. No good citizen will deay that if it had disclosed an intention to assault and rob an individual, it would have been my duty, when the fact was reported to me, to take measures to prevent the perpetration of the crime. Does the Eccning Post hold that it is a lesser crime to invade a state and rob it of its presidential vote and of the choice of its officers? If it does, I differ from it, and I am willing to abide by the judgment of upright and intelligent men of every party. If the Evening Post admits the crime to be as great, then it is in the position of abusing me for doing what every honest man must commend. But the Evening Post pretends that before using the telegram I should have inquired of the guilty party what it meant. Who ever heard before that a criminal whose guilt was accidentally discovered should be advised of the fact before steps were taken to prevent the accomplishment of his intended crime?

I was not called upon to give Mr. Jewell an opportunity to make the absurd pretence that the telegram was a warning against Democratio repeaters, because I knew that such a pretense would be false. Mr. Jewell's language in the telegram was not that of a man exposing an attempted crime by his adversaries, but that of one declaring his own work. It expressed no warning, but announced a fact, and that fact was the sending of 850 men to Florida by Mr. Jewell's procurement.

Besides, how absurd it is, after the whining ery about a "solid South," to frighten the Northern people from voting for a gallant Union soldier, to ask them to believe that the Democratic party were sending repeaters to the South to make it As to the pretence, that the men were sent to Florida to work on a railroad, why should the Republican national committee trouble itself about railroad laborers? The falseness of these pretenses is shown by the fact that though Mr. Jewell has the custom house and the post office at his command, and the telegraph company, naturally annoyed by the mistake it made, is anxious to help him to the utmost, the owners of the vessels will give him all the information they have, he is unable to connect any Democrat with the sending of the men, or to show that they were to work upon any railroad, except the fraudulent one upon which Mr. Jewell sought to lay a track to the White House. The fact remains beyond controversy that Mr. Jewell has been caught in an attempt to carry the Florida election by fraud. Every sens:blo man knows that the success of such schemes must be fatal to the perpetuity of republican institutions. Yet the Evening Post is silent when such attempts are made, but eager to help the guilty to escape when they are caught. It winks at the crime, and libels those who expose it. When the paper was edited by Bryant & Loggett it had a high rank by reason of the elevation of its tone and the vigor with which it denounced every wrong. How great the descent to its pres-WILLIAM H. MEDICAL.

Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commercied to the attention of those afficted with Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims.

With a purely pidianthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those addicted with that miserable disease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than

Brandy. The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly.

A Sovereign Remedy

or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, mees. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy,

In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of witnesses—one case in particular we dissolve all non-authorized religious orders bers of witnes A hard-working farmer had been allieted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach world reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—no appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a heverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

in his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an apportic, and before the second was taken be was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting any thing which helphose to cat. He still keeps it and uses a lit-tle occasionally; and since he has this medi-cine he has been of very little pecuniary bene-fit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
